HISTORY, MINOR (BEHREND)

Requirements for a minor may be completed at any campus location offering the specified courses for the minor. Students may not change from a campus that offers their major to a campus that does not offer their major for the purpose of completing a minor.

What is History?

History is an interdisciplinary field that offers a unique analytical perspective on the world. To understand history, we not only need to understand politics and war, but also the significance of cultural, religious, social, and intellectual developments. The study of history provides a breadth of knowledge and an understanding of diverse perspectives. This diversity includes the opportunity to incorporate anthropology, the scientific study of humanity, into their coursework. A history major will not only enable a student to have a better comprehension of the development of today's complex world, but will also help a student develop a range of skills that are applicable in a wide variety of careers, including education, law, museum studies, and business.

You Might Like This Program If...

- You want your college experience to satisfy your love of history and the humanities while preparing you for your future endeavors.
- You are eager to improve your knowledge of the historical background that will help you to better understand current events.
- You are fascinated by the people and events in Western and non-Western history.
- You dig archaeology and anthropology.
- You'd like to add liberal arts balance to a business or technical degree program.